Ronna McDaniel
Republican National Committee
P.O. Box 98206
Washington D.C., 20077-7561

Dear Ronna;

Thank you for a request to renew my membership in the Republican National Committee. You wish me to maintain my status as a distinguished member of the RNC, as well as assisting in saving the political lives of party politicians. Sadly, the RNC and many of its politicians are no longer worth saving. The party and its candidates have betrayed their historic principles, as well as the popular president that stood as the head and leader of the party. Why should I stand up for a party that won't stand up for its own? The RNC has refused to weed out party corruption and reign in misguided politicians. As a result, we all lose.

Donald Trump winning the presidency left many Republican leaders in a quandary. He was an outsider. He didn't play the political game. He spoke his mind. He wasn't a politician. But, Trump had and still has a large voter "fan-club". This frustrates the Republican leadership, since they cannot control Trump. During his four-year presidency, his policies never went contrary to the Republican platform. Yet Congress, when the Republicans controlled both the House and the Senate, did ABSOLUTELY NOTHING but harass this duly elected President. Paul Ryan, rather than taking advantage of the Republican control of both House and Senate, squandered it away through his hatred of Trump. In the next two years, when Republicans lost the House but still controlled the Senate, the Senate Republicans allowed liberal Democrats to dominate the agenda. I did not see an emboldened Senate out to fight for issues outlined by the President and the Republican Party. I saw only a group of cry-babies willing to stab their President behind his back. We have what I call the Loffler-ization of the Republican party, ass-kissing and then back-stabbing. It is a party that has rendered itself useless. Mychal Massie says it well; "Don't trust the Republicans" (<https://www.wnd.com/2021/01/warning-dont-trust-republicans/>). Republicans from my home state of Washington and elsewhere voted for the Trump impeachment. What an embarrassment! Republicans lack sense in dealing with their wayward members in Congress. Wyoming at least had enough courage to censure Liz Cheney, even though spineless House Republicans have left Cheney in a position of control.

There was hope by many that Donald Trump would form a new invigorated Republican Party, willing to fight for its conservative ideals and not compromise on the important issues. Don't get me wrong, there is much that I dislike about Donald Trump. Yet, he was the Republican Party's President, and Republican leadership should have stood up for him. The last straw was when V.P. Mike Pence chose to go down with a whimper rather than fight to defend the President on 06JAN21.

We are faced with many critical issues in our nation. 1) We now have a Congress that chooses to not live according to the Constitution, and a Republican Party that is allowing it to happen. When they took the oath of office, whose Constitution did these Congress members swear to defend? 2) We have a court system that has been politicized and no longer believes the Constitution is the guiding document for their decisions. 3) We will never ever trust our voting system again. The Republicans could have fixed it. They chose not to. 4) Corruption is deep within both the Republican and Democratic Party. The deep state corruption could not be addressed properly by President Trump because of interference with that process by both Republicans and Democrats. 5) Why are Hillary C., J. Comey, J. Brennan, P. Strzok, Hunter Biden, and others NOT in prison, while Roger Stone, S. Bannon, M. Flynn, Carter Page, and others with MUCH lesser crimes (if any at all) have had their lives and livelihoods threatened, all while under a Republican Congress? Sadly, the discerning public interprets this as a justice system that is not blind and seriously broken. Republican leaders share the blame for this equally with Democrats. 6) The Republicans in Congress have whistled Dixie while we lost our 1st amendment rights. Just witness the phony congressional “hearing” with Big-Tech and the limp Republican response. You seem to delight in the “fake news” attacking Donald Trump, yet fail to grasp that your Republican constituents can see behind your façade and find it troubling that the Republican Party hasn’t taken a united stance against a few billionaires controlling social and public media. 7) Second amendment rights can also be kissed goodbye, resulting from Republican failure to counteract the highly aggressive Democrat desire for “gun control”. Where are you all? 8) Most Republicans no longer advocate free-market economics, but favor Democrat Party Keynesian economics, which is a true destroyer of our economy. 9) Republicans, in the manner of Republican Teddy Roosevelt, should be leading the environmental movement in a sensible direction, and not fighting it! Tear down Hetch Hetchy Dam and damn San Francisco! !!! San Francisco can desalinate sea water using solar power. Make liberals face the consequences of their beliefs and inaction.

We are no longer a constitutional Republic. We lost it on January 6, 2021, and engraved it in stone on January 20, 2021. Though it is easy to blame those “evil” Democrats for this, Republicans are also complicit through their failure to unite, fight, and speak out. The Republican reaction to Trump is symbolic of how “our” party has placed self-interests over the interests of the nation, at the cost of destroying a once great and mighty republic. America will never be great again if the current behavior of the Republican party continues.

In conclusion, I will no longer support the Republican Party or any Republican candidate unless the entire party commits to a drastic overhaul. You may write me off as saying that I am only one constituent of many Republicans, so I don’t matter. On the contrary, many of my fellow Republicans feel exactly the same way that I do. The Republican elitists of this state have no regard for us conservative “deplorables”. Only God can save the party now.

Sincerely,

Kenneth A. Feucht
